Thanks to your support, the UW Stroum Center for Jewish Studies is internationally recognized as a center of cutting-edge scholarship, teaching, and community partnership. Building on the vision of Samuel and Althea Stroum, new endeavors like the Sephardic Studies Program, an enhanced website, and arts programming are cementing our position as a vital presence in the field of Jewish Studies.

At this event you will have special opportunities to:

Mingle

with student leaders, Graduate Fellows, and faculty

Be inspired by the achievements of our community-university partnership

Engage

with the history displayed in a Seattle Sephardic Treasures exhibit

Learn

about the ground-breaking books published by our Stroum Lecturers and faculty

Enjoy

a live musical performance by Sasson

Savor

delicious kosher food drawn from Ashkenazi and Sephardic traditions

Invest

in our students' future. You'll have the opportunity to raise your paddle, give, and become involved.

No minimum gift required.
